Time for Finishing Touches

The major construction at the new Buffalo Stadium is over for the time being and workmen are busy with the millions of details that must be worked over. Some are finishing the press box and concessions stands. Others are bolting the wooden seats on the steel brackets in the stands, and even more are smoothing the layer of dirt on the playing field in preparation for planting grass. This picture was taken from a spot where two ramps converge at the north end, the one on the left will lead to the center walkway of the stands, and the one on the right goes to the top of the stands.

Davis Services Held in Lubbock

Funeral services for Mrs. Ariadne Warren Davis were conducted Monday at the Rix Funeral Chapel in Lubbock by the Rev. Raymond Dyess of Hale Center.

Mrs. Davis, the mother of Virgil Davis of Canyon, died Saturday in Neblett Hospital. Formerly of Lubbock, she had been living in her son's home here for the past year.

Widow of James C. Davis, who died in 1957, Mrs. Davis, 71, was a member of the Methodist Church. She was born Aug. 15, 1887, in Collinswood, Texas.

Burial was in the City of Lubbock Cemetery. Surviving are another son, Cecil Davis of El Paso; three brothers, Leslie E. Warren and Melvin Warren, both of Lubbock, and Dennis Warren of Eugene, Ore.; two sisters, Mrs. George Rigby of Fort Worth and Wilda Warren of Amarillo and four grandchildren.

Condemnations Clear Highway

Awards of $600 and $2,000 were given for the last two pieces of property needed for right of way for Highway 60 in condemnation suits heard Friday before two condemnation commissions.

In the first case, Alvin Hacker was awarded $2,000 for .0462 acres of land directly across Highway 60 from the intersection of 15th Street. The county had offered $1,500. Commissioners were Omer Jordan, Johnnie McBroom and Bill Brundige.

In the second case, E. L. Plank was awarded $600 for 1.528 acres at the curve west of Canyon. The county had offered $449. Commissioners were Ben Koch, J. C. Batenhorst and L. L. Hix.

Earlier, the highway department had notified Randall County that if the two cases were heard and completed Monday, contracts for construction of the highway would be let by the highway commission

Eaglettes Lose Consolation Game

Losing in the first round and winning in the second, the Canyon High Eaglettes lost to Sudan for consolation in the Dimmitt Tournament last weekend. Marilyn Winn was considered for the All-Tournament team, however.

On Thursday, the Eaglettes were defeated 61-49 by Bula, with Miss Winn scoring 30 points. In Friday's game, Canyon defeated Olton 37-20, and Miss Winn scored 24 points in that game.

In Friday's game, Miss Winn scored 21 points as the Eaglettes were defeated by Gruver 54-44 although Miss Winn and Patricia Downing scored 16 points each.

Canyon will begin district play Friday at Tulia.

at the February letting date.

The highway will be widened to four-lane divided with expressway features from Canyon to the Deaf Smith County line.

Nike Hercules Firing Battery Site Selected in Randall Area

Selection of a site for a U. S. Army Nike Hercules missile battery in Randall County has been officially announced by Col. Leslie J. Staub, commanding officer, of the 4th Region, U. S. Army Defense Command at Kansas City.

In addition to the Randall County site, another will be in Carson County on the Pantex Ordnance Plant land and the headquarters battery will be located at Amarillo Air Force Base.

"These batteries, when equipped with the Nike Hercules surface-to-air missiles, can give the Amarillo area a final protective air defense against attack from any known aircraft or air supported missile," Col. Staub said. The Nike Hercules is a five ton, supersonic missile with a range of more than 75 miles.

The Randall County battery site will be approximately seven miles southeast of Amarillo, south of FM 1151, Claude road. It will be in the vicinity of the McCartt Turkey Farm.

In describing the effectiveness of the missile, which is planned for Amarillo defense, Col. Staub cited results of recent firings at White Sands Missile Range. "During one of these firings the Nike Hercules destroyed a target at an altitude of more than 100,000 feet—more than 20 miles. In another shoot, the Nike Hercules destroyed a target traveling more than 2,000 miles an hour. As far as is known this is the first time any air defense missile has destroyed a target moving at this speed and altitude."

Construction of the battery sites is expected to be completed this year with an estimated cost of $1 million each. Each of the batteries will be capable of defending an area of 20,000 square miles.

A site selection team composed of representatives of Col. Staub's command and the U. S. Army Engineers District, Fort Worth, made a detailed reconnaissance of the Amarillo area.

"Many possible site locations were considered," Col. Staub said, "however, the areas selected best meet the many technical and tactical requirements of a Nike Hercules battery site."

Each of the firing batteries will be built on two separate tracts of land located about one mile apart. One of the tracts, known as the integrated fire control (IFC) area, will contain radars and electronic computers of the guidance system. The other tract, the launcher area, will contain the missile handling and storage facilities including the missile launchers.

Administration buildings, mess halls and barracks are constructed in one of the areas for each battery site. In addition, approximately 16 houses are required at each missile battery for the key married personnel who must remain within five minutes driving time of their jobs. Other married personnel would rent in the area.

Exact locations of the sites on the ground have not been determined pending additional surveys and tests. These surveys must be made at the proposed sites before the final decision is made to purchase any land, according to Col. Staub. A real estate planning study is now being made in each area by the Fort Worth District Engineers. This study will determine property ownership and the actual land requirements at each site.

Each battery will be manned by approximately 100 enlisted men and eight officers. The monthly payroll will be around $25,000 at each battery. When the sites become operational they will be manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week in all weather.

The Nike Hercules missiles are currently on-site and operational around nine major cities in this country. The missile is a second generation of the Nike missile system. The first missile of the system, Nike Ajax, has been on defense sites since 1953. There are now some 240 Nike batteries in the nation.

See No Appeal in McReynolds Case

No appeal from the county court jury award of $21,846.50 for property belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ray McReynolds is planned by the Randall County Commissioners Court according to a decision Monday. The state highway department may request an appeal, but has not indicated if it will.

The award was given following a two-day trial of an appeal from an award of $19,230 by a condemnation commission in December. The original offer for the property was $11,132.

The original offer was based on an appraisal approved by the highway department under a cost-sharing contract between the state and county. Under the contract, each of the two governments pays 50 per cent of the cost of purchasing right of way for widening Highway 60.

The trial was concerned with setting a price to be paid the McReynolds for taking 2,802 acres of land, the McReynolds house and other buildings on the property. The land is a strip 497 feet along the highway by 200 feet deep.

Testimony offered by the county, represented by A. W. Lair, included details of appraisal by the two state appraisers, William R. Watkins Jr. and J. K. Gabbard, both of Amarillo. In addition, a series of photographs of the McReynolds property and house and of other houses in Canyon were offered in evidence.

Mrs. McReynolds testified that she thought the property was worth at least $25,000. Dan Sanders estimated the McReynolds property should bring about $28,000 and T. A. Black set an estimate of $30,000 on the McReynolds place.

Members of the condemnation commission which set $19,230 as a fair market value for the McReynolds property included Black, Bill Patke and Si Elliott.

Members of the six-man county court jury were Jim Cabe, G. C. Campbell, Richard Pruett, E. A. Martin, Jack Frost and Robert Strickland.

Attorneys representing the McReynolds were George McCarthy and S. F. Rose.

If an appeal is to be made by either the state or McReynolds, it must be filed within 10 days after the jury returned its verdict.

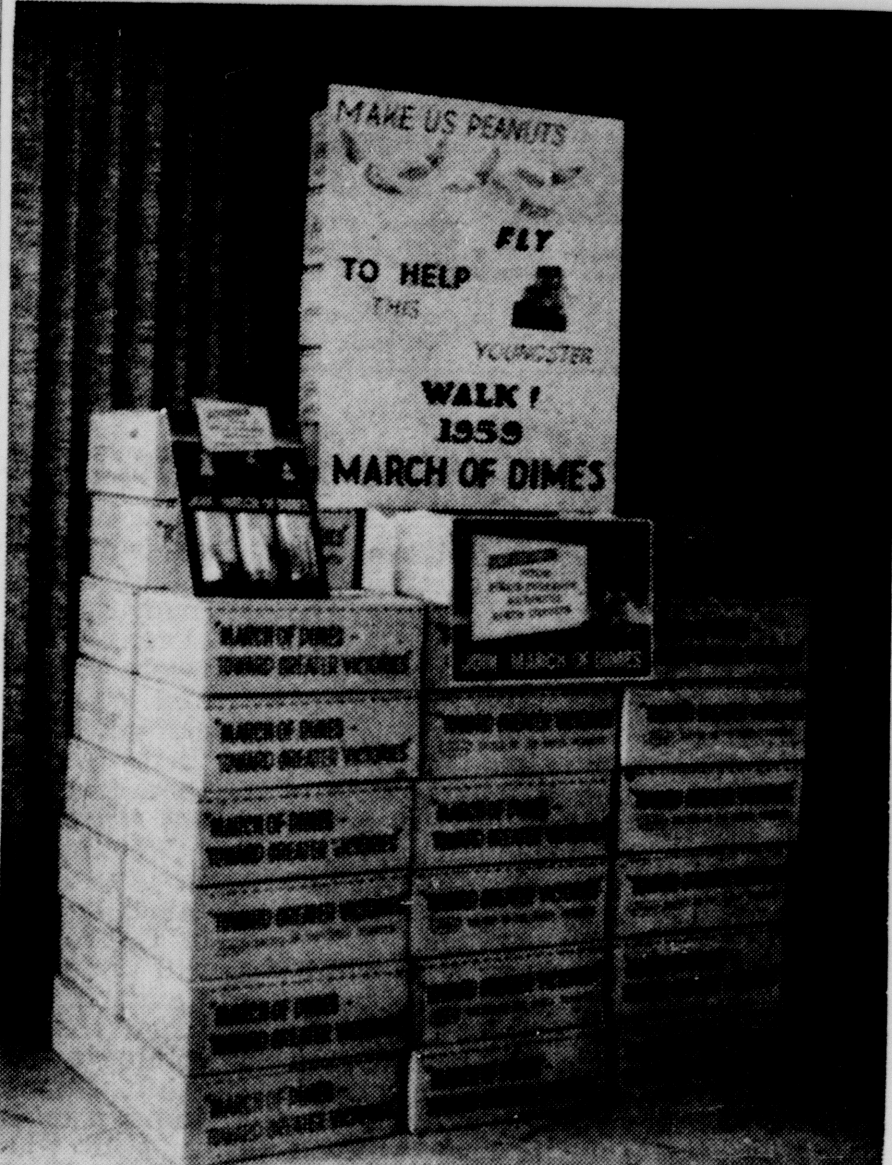

ACS Board Slates Meeting Tomorrow

Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society will meet at 12 noon tomorrow in the Blue Room of the West Texas State College cafeteria.

Dr. Ruth Lowes and Dr. J. B. Roberts, WT faculty members, will report on the state cancer meeting they attended in December.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. McIntire attended the funeral of S. C. Hutchison in Tulia Jan. 10. Visiting in the McIntire home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Whittington, a daughter and son-in-law from San Antonio.

This stack of peanuts, already salted in the shell, is on sale in the front corner of the First National Bank, and proceeds go to the March of Dimes campaign.

Intensive Campaign Plans Started For March of Dimes in Canyon

A full-scale campaign for the March of Dimes has developed for Canyon, beginning with the mailers sent at the first of the month and ending with a Mother's March.

Some $239 had been collected from the mailers on Monday, and canisters were placed in business houses last week. The canisters were put out by three scouts of Troop 66 and a visitor from Dumas. They were Elo Myers, Davis Price, Ralph Kuehn and Jimmy Wooten of Dumas.

A film showing the four-fold purposes of this year's March of Dimes, entitled "The Challenge," has been shown to the Lions Club and to the Jayettes. A talk on the march was given the Rotary Club by George Blackwell. The drive this year will be for polio, birth defects, virus diseases and arthritis.

The Mother's March has tentatively been set for Jan. 29, and will be sponsored by the Jayettes joined by the Canyon Home Demonstration Club, Junior Woman's Book Club and VFW Auxiliary.

Another plan being developed is the idea of having an airplane available for rides on a Sunday afternoon during the month with proceeds going to the March of Dimes. A coffee day is being planned by the various cafes and coffee shops in Canyon for January 28. The Lions Club is working on this phase of the drive with the cafe owners.

This year's drive is scheduled from Jan. 2 to 31.

P-TA Will Meet Tomorrow Night

Canyon Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow night in the Canyon Elementary School all-purpose room.

T. G. Hull Jr. will moderate buzz sessions on "Keeping Faith With the Younger Generation" and the high school band will play. Also on the program are Mayla Atkinson, Melba Haile and Roy Harris, who will give declamations.

A nursery will be provided.

Mrs. Mona K. Hildreth, county home demonstration agent, demonstrated making quick bread before the Pleasant-Jo 4-H Club as it met Jan. 12.

Guest Speaker for Chamber Banquet Makes Statewide News During Week

The man who is scheduled as guest speaker for the Canyon Chamber of Commerce banquet Feb. 6 makes statewide news in his own right almost every week.

The speaker, Marshall Formby, chairman of the state highway commission, announced during the past week that he will not be available for reappointment to the commission when his term expires in the near future. He said he had made the decision because he already has plans for 1960.

And the plans are to become a candidate for governor of Texas. He announced his candidacy during the fall of 1958, more than a year before the traditional time for announcing.

Since then he has been busy telling the people of Texas about their highways. In recent releases, Formby has said:

"Texans must not feel that Uncle Sam is going to solve all our highway needs with federal money. Texans still have a tremendous responsibility in solving their own traffic needs."

"Highway dollars spent for construction and maintenance are a real economic asset to the counties and cities of Texas. People are again recognizing the importance of the highway dollar being returned to their counties and cities."

"Highway money does not come from Santa Claus. It is the people's tax money being returned to them for betterment of their highway system and for the boosting of their own economy."

"Right of way (under the 50-50 right of way purchase law) is exceeding the estimated cost. When more money is required for right of way, it has to come out of the construction money, and so less road-miles can be built."

"The 3,033 miles of interstate highway in Texas, when completed, will carry only about 16 per cent, certainly never more than 20 per cent of our Texas traffic. It is up to Texans to work out our own solution for this other 80 to 84 per cent of radio stations in this cent of traffic."

New officers and directors of the chamber of commerce are Jerry LaGrone, seated left, president, Mrs. Clyde Warwick, director, C. Boone McClure, vice president, and Dr. J. Manly Bryan, director. Missing was Don Standley, treasurer. Mrs. Warwick is believed to be the first woman director of the Canyon chamber. The election was Thursday night.

Formby is a former county judge of Dickens County, former state senator and is a practicing lawyer in Plainview. He is a partner in area, and has been a publisher of a newspaper.

Tickets for the banquet, to be held in the WT cafeteria, are available at the chamber of commerce office or from members of the board of directors.

New Fire Officers

New officers of the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department were elected last Wednesday night at the annual business meeting. They are Louie Davis, left, re-elected vice president, Bill Counsellor, assistant fire chief, Alfred Daniel, secretary, Paul Lindsey, fire chief, and Truett Hull, president.

Army's Nike Hercules Bases

Last week we were notified that the Army had selected battery sites for protection of Amarillo Air Force Base, and one of the sites would be in Randall County, in the vicinity of McCartt's Turkey Farm on the Washington Street road.

As we understand the information we got, the defense setup sites—one will be at Pantex, the second in Randall County includes three sites, two for firing batteries and one for headquarters. One firing battery will be at Pantex, the second in Randall County and headquarters battery will be at the air base.

Each of the firing battery sites will be on two separate tracts of land located about a mile apart. One of the tracts, known as the integrated fire control area, will contain the radars and electronic computers of the guidance system. The other tract, the launcher area, will contain the missile handling and storage facilities, including the missile launchers.

The battery sites will cost about $1 million each and construction is expected to be completed this year. On the sites, in addition to the missile equipment and guidance equipment, will be administration buildings, mess halls and barracks. Approximately 16 houses are required at each battery for the key married personnel who must remain within five minutes driving time of their jobs. Other married personnel will rent in the area.

Each of the firing batteries will be manned by approximately 100 enlisted men and eight officers. The monthly payroll is about $25,000.

A lot of those figures have to be approximate, we guess. It would be hard to know just exactly what the payroll will be, because it would fluctuate according to how much time in service the various men had. And the number of houses would depend on the number of married men who are considered "key."

But that is what the physical plant will be like.

The Randall County site will be much closer to Amarillo than Canyon, but it will be in the Canyon school district, and any school children there would presumably come to our schools. How many children would sort of be an approximate

Panhandle's Way

Just a week and a half ago, we were shivering and looking for warm places because of intense cold that ran the thermometer down below zero at night and wouldn't let it get much above zero during the day.

And since that time? We've been basking in warming sunshine. We've had shirtsleeves weather at mid-day and light coat weather at night. The breezes have been light, at the most.

But that's the way with the Panhandle weather. You never know what's coming next, but you can be sure that it will be followed by something mighty pleasant.

What Our Neighbors Say ...

Scissor Snippings

Paul Crume in the Dallas Morning News: We have noticed lately that the American talent for hypochondria has spread to the automobile.

From Clee to heaven, the TV and radio folks proclaim it every hour on the hour. That gleaming 1959 monster you drive may seem to be purring along like a big cat, but it is really a sick cat. It is coming down fast with something called old dirty sludge. Better pour REET into your crankcase right now—REET, the only engine solvent with pyromaniacate. An ounce of REET is worth a pound of cure.

Have you protected your wonderful new, tubeless, whitewall tires against tetanus that may result from old rusty nails? Better inoculate them with our new tire serum, applied with a hypodermic needle just like in the hospital.

You think the water in your radiator is mountain-branch clean, eh? The streptococcus of rust is already in it, chewing away at the vitals of your car. Dose it immediately with BUSTALL, the only radiator fluid containing penicillin.

Boy, the time to worry about your car is when it is new. Anything can start to happen to it. We grew up in those primitive days before preventive medicine had spread into the automobile field, and the disease toll on autos must have been terrific. Not more than a few hundred of these 1915 models are still running in healthy condition.

True, you could go to the drug-store and buy a pint can of automobile ether and pour it in your gas tank. A few confirmed hypochondriacs used to do this on the sly, naively believing that they were heading off trouble.

On the whole, though, people had to rely on home unguents and liniments in the auto field, too. Old dirty sludge? If you could find any of it at a filling station for free, you poured it in the crankcase and used it. It worked just as good as new oil. Rust in the radiator? Wham the engine a few times with a wrench to knock the rust loose, run the car until it was boiling. Unscrew the radiator cap with a long stick and let rust and water both geyser up to the sky. That got rid of rust.

If it left a few leaks, you worry. Fill the radiator with water and pour in a mess of corn meal. That would stop them.

As for rusty nails in tires, people then always put on a cold patch. They were superstitious and thought this cured everything. Things are better the new way, of course. It is comforting to know, when you think of how gasoline fumes are irritating the walls of your cylinders, that you already prepared the old bus with a dose of the only auto solution containing silver nitrate.

One's mind is easier for knowing that he has protected his spark plugs from the harmful effects of electricity, too.

We'll have the whole problem guess at this time, too.

Just like anybody else, people in the Army spend their money trying to get along. Where they spend it depends on where they are. We can sit on our tails and let them go on to Amarillo, or we can get busy and figure a plan to make them feel at home in Canyon—make them feel that Canyon is their town and not Amarillo.

We might as well be cold-blooded about it. An extra $15,000 or $20,000 a month would be quite a boost to the economy of Canyon. It's dead certain that we will not share in the economic boost if we don't share in the welcoming and social life of the new service families coming to our area.

Mr. Chamber of Commerce, do you think maybe some plan can be worked out? Do you think Mr. and Mrs. Canyon will help?

What an Idea

Here's an idea that might be nice for more people to take up, at least as a temporary, once-every-two-years sort of thing. It might spread a little more joy.

Borrowed from a column by Frank X. Tolbert in the Dallas Morning News is this item:

William Sevier (Bill) Ingram of Buffalo, Leon County, says this is "Be-Kind-to-Politicians-Week," as far as he is concerned. It has been Mr. Ingram's custom for the last decade to spend a week when Congress is about to go in session sending flowers and kind letters to senators and representatives.

Mr. Ingram is a railroad station agent and has never been a lobbyist.

"I just think that politicians have a heap rougher time than most folks realize," said Bill Ingram. "They're always being cussed. And most of their mail is from people complaining or asking for something. So I just sit down and write letters of appreciation to people like Lyndon Johnson and Olin Teague and Sam Rayburn. And I wire them flowers. I even sent old Jack Porter some kind words and a bouquet when he was having such a rough time as Republican committeeman for Texas here a while back."

Mr. Ingram's thoughtfulness is not restricted to Texas politicians. He called this department Monday from Buffalo wanting some dope on Alaska's senators and congressmen. Then he wired flowers and congratulations to the Alaskans.

One prominent Texas member of Congress wrote back:

"I got 124 letters this morning. One hundred and twenty-three were fussing about something. I was real depressed until I came to your wonderful letter. You brightened up the whole day for me and I went at my work with a better will."

"Even though I've never cast a vote for Senator Yarborough," said Ingram, "I sent him flowers because I know he gets lots of 'damn you' letters."

The death this fall of Sam Zimbalist was a loss to the world, for he was the producer of many motion pictures, several of which deserved the title of great.

To the writer of this "column," his going meant the loss of a friend.

In the winter of 1939-40, I went to Hollywood to assist in the writing of "Boom Town." There, it was my good fortune to be associated with him. He was tall, handsome, well-proportioned, in his 30's, quiet, modest, friendly and considerate. The association lasted four months—until the script had been completed.

It was 12 years later before I returned to Los Angeles. Hollywood is known for its short memory—but this cynical truism was not true of Zimbalist. He learned of my coming and sent word for me to call him, which I did. He invited me to visit the studio. I felt that the invitation was being extended from a sense of courtesy so I said:

"It has been a long time since my connection with 'Boom Town' and while that experience was important to me—perhaps a turning point in my life—it wasn't important to anyone else. You are a very busy man and I just wanted to say hello."

"Where are you having lunch tomorrow?" he asked. "Come out and have lunch with me."

So I accepted. His secretary was still "Miss Marge," and she smiled a greeting and said she recalled me.

Zimbalist and I chatted for an hour. He had recently completed "Quo Vadis" and he showed me replicas of Roman soldiers, chariots and their mementoes of the epic.

Then we went to the commissary for an unhurried repast. He greeted actors, directors and executives as they came down the aisle and he would say, "I want you to meet my friend from Texas."

In response to my questions, he told me something about himself—born in Brooklyn, not completing high school, coming to Hollywood where he began as a messenger and eventually "did almost everything but act."

Then he said, musingly, "I sometimes wonder whether I have invested my life wisely."

I replied, "Many may wonder that about themselves—but you need not. You are at the top of your profession; you are with the biggest company in its field in the world; you have produced pictures which have brought romance, adventure and happiness into the lives of untold millions in every part of our earth."

We returned to his office. I did not want to take more of his time but it was an hour later when I rose for the third time, that he permitted me to leave.

"I have enjoyed this," he said.

MAN OF THE HOUR

Taking things as they come and selling them at a profit is another form of success.

"Don't ever come back to Los Angeles without seeing me."

But the next time I was there, he was in Italy making "Ben Hur"—the picture he was still making when he died in Rome.

"King Solomon's Mines," "Quo Vadis," "Boom Town"—these are among his great monuments.

I have worked for, and with many men but none who was more patient, understanding and appreciative, or more truly a gentleman than Sam Zimbalist.

I am glad that I told him that, the last time I saw him.

NEWS LETTER FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The Domestic Oil and Gas Industry

The domestic oil and gas industry will be faced with some grave and severe challenges in the new Congress. Like the American farmer, it is one of the favorite whipping boys of the large metropolitan areas.

Many political hopefuls look upon it as a splendid target for further abuses and vilification. Many of them figure that since none of the stuff is produced in their particular areas, they are free to engage in a flagrant and wanton attack on the industry as a whole and, if need be, to put the Congressmen from the big city districts on the spot, politically speaking.

Their analysis of the situation might be correct, strictly from a political standpoint, but it can play havoc with the economy of this country. They fail to realize the tremendous purchasing power created by the active oil and gas industry that creates a direct need for everything from steel to textiles, to say nothing of the many benefits that might be chargeable as indirect requirements of the industry and the great number of good Americans associated with it.

The industry has long been victimized by adverse publicity which will be used in an attempt to further subject it to additional government controls, as well as to wring more taxes out of it.

The trouble is that the "oil man" is always portrayed as a "money bags" type of fellow with all the money in the world at his disposal. For some unknown reason, no one seems to realize that the oil business is constituted primarily of tool pushers, drillers, roughnecks, dirt contractors, oil field supply employees, bookkeepers and truck drivers, to mention a few.

These are the kind of people who make up an average American community, and these are the people who are going to be hurt if some of the threats against the oil business, that have been voiced by some politicians from the metropolitan areas, are carried out.

The oil and gas business is in bad enough condition at the present time—thanks mainly to the total ineptness of this Administration to deal effectively with the import problem.

It is now generally conceded around Washington that the so-called "voluntary import program" that received so much publicity when it was instituted has fallen flat on its face as I said it would a year ago. Anyone who expects the owners of foreign oil to stick hot needles under their own economic fingernails, is whistling in the dark.

The fact is that the program has been a dismal failure, and there seems to be no relief in sight. This was as well as admitted when the Administration extended the program for an additional two months, although the oil and gas people had been promised many times that a new program was in the making and would soon be announced; that it would be a program acceptable to all phases of the industry and one that would carry out the objectives of the President's Cabinet Committee Report.

No such program has been announced and, so far as is known, no concrete program is in the making.

Not long ago I watched a woman with two small children take turns chasing, feeding, consoling them and sitting under a dryer for more than half an hour. As she left the shop, I observed to the beauty operator, "Those children are just plain bad!" This amused her far beyond its real humor. Later, maybe just to warn me, she declared the woman had overheard the remark. Fortunately I had added, "She's a good mother, too. I watched her."

She then recounted other incidents which had created tense situations. A regular customer once sat and watched a large woman wearing slacks come and go. "That woman has no business wearing pants! She hasn't the figure for it," the customer observed as the door opened. The slack-wearer, a sensitive soul, returned the next day in great distress. Only the tact of the attendants saved strained relations.

In another case, a customer was overheard to exclaim: "That young woman is just TOO skinny! She ought to do something about it." Seems the slender woman wasn't a diet addict at all; she just could not gain weight. A tearful session again resulted.

Sitting under a hair dryer is at best a boring occupation. And it's perfectly natural for the victim to entertain herself by watching others. But the safest way to prevent mayhem is to keep her own counsel while doing it.

Methodist Program To Begin Sunday

The 13 problems that concern Americans most, as determined by a national poll, will be subjects of drama and discussion on "Talk Back," a new TV series which will begin at 3:30 p. m. Sunday on station KGNC, Channel 4.

The Rev. Charles Ellzey, Amarillo, will be host and moderator for the series, underwritten by the Methodist church.

Each problem will be presented in a 12-minute filmed drama, by top professional actors. This will be followed by a live presentation featuring people from the Golden Spread who will discuss and seek to relate the Christian faith to the problem.

Programs will not be provided "pat" answers to the problems. Rather, the Amarillo Ministers Association, which is presenting the series, hopes to get viewers to face these problems and, through talking together, arrive at individual solutions.

Subjects include pressures of modern living, insecurity, civic responsibility, suffering, rearing children, prayer, knowing God's will, belonging and acceptance, guilt, life's good and bad breaks, faith, Christian principles, anxieties and fears.

Dr. Robert Skinner will produce the 30-minute show for the Amarillo Minister's Association.

Four Factors Set Insurance Rates

With the recent store fires in Amarillo, many people are talking about how fire insurance rates will rise there. And this question follows: "What can the people of Canyon do to keep insurance rates low here?"

Insurance premiums for homes are based on four items, three of which are variable. And two of those variable items are different from one city to another.

In Canyon, for a $10,000 brick veneer home with composition roof, the premium for a one-year policy is $16. This premium is for fire and lightning only, and does not include many of the other coverages that most people carry on their homes.

The premium is figured in this manner: The basic rate for that type of home in Texas cities with fire protection is 25 cents per hundred dollar value. To that figure is added one-half the "key rate," which varies from city to city, and is 28 cents in Canyon.

Those two figures are added together, and an "experience rating" is deducted or added. The experience rating varies from year to year and is a statewide figure. This year it is 49 per cent. This, in figuring a premium for the example home here, the total of the basic rate and key rate is reduced by 49 per cent, leaving an annual rate of 20 cents per hundred dollar value.

If the home is to be insured for $10,000, the normal premium is $20. And here comes the saving that Amarillo will probably lose because of their high-loss fires in the past few months. Each city has a "Fire Record Credit" or debit.

Those cities which have good records of few fires or few high losses have a fire record credit that can range as high as 25 per cent. Canyon has a 20 per cent credit.

Therefore, the normal $20 premium for our $10,000 home is reduced by 20 per cent, or $4, leaving a total premium of $16.

The Fire Record Credit is the key to keeping fire insurance premiums low. And the good record can be kept and even improved if the city government, fire department and individual citizens work together.

The Fire Record Credit is computed each year in the following manner: Each insurance company having policies in Texas report in February the value of premiums paid by Texans and the value of losses paid for each fire.

The state insurance commission takes the percentage of losses to premiums for the past five years and applies it to a schedule. If the percentage of losses to premiums is more than 75 per cent in a city, a 15 per cent penalty is given the city for the following year. If the percentage is less than 24 per cent, the city is given a 25 per cent credit. Other credits and penalties range in between.

The total premiums paid in Canyon during the five years beginning in 1954 was $241,848. Losses for the period were $59,430. And these figures give Canyon a 20 per cent credit for the insurance year beginning April 1, 1958 and ending on March 31, 1959. A new credit will be computed for the next insurance year.

Canyon's history of credits for the past five years has been 20 per cent, 15 per cent, 15 per cent, 20 per cent and 20 per cent again for 1958.

Under the fire credit formula, a disastrous fire reflects on insurance rates for five years. At the end of that time it is dropped.

A city can reduce its fire insurance rates through another variable factor, the key rate. The key rate is computed for each city on 22 different factors, and the maximum key rate is $1. It is possible for the key rate to be zero, but it is not practical. (The lowest key rates in the state are 9 cents for El Paso and San Antonio.)

Canyon's key rate is figured on these things: 3c for not quite adequate water works, 1c for power to pump station not according to standard, 10c for a wholly volunteer fire department, 2c for the pumping truck being inadequate, 1c for deficient ladder truck, 4c for not having an alarm system, 5c for the building code being 80 per cent deficient, 1c for overhead wires in the business district, 2c for frame buildings near the business district, and 4c for having more than 75 per cent combustible roofs in the town, a total of 33 cents.

From that figure, several credits are given: 1% for having a booster tank truck, 2% for a standard separate booster truck, 5% for night watch service, 3% for teaching fire prevention in the schools, 2% for having an arson reward ordinance, 3% for having men on the fire department who have attended the fire school, a total of 16% credits, taking 5c off the basic key rate for a total of 28c.

A number of the items charged Canyon could be removed, but many would cost more than the return in premium savings. For instance, an alarm system could be installed, but it would not be practical. Removing the overhead wires in the business district would be extremely expensive. The city has, however, been at work bringing the water system nearer to standard. That is expensive, too, and includes such things as looping all lines together and putting in valves on the mains much closer together. The work cannot be done all at once.

But even if the key rate were cut in half, it would not mean nearly so much to homeowners as raising the good fire credit to the maximum 25 per cent.

As proof of that, Amarillo has an investment of millions of dollars in fire stations and equipment. The city has a fire department made up entirely of paid firemen. The annual budget for the fire department is in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

And Amarillo's key rate is a little less than half that of Canyon. Amarillo's key rate is 15 cents and ours is 28 cents. In figuring an insurance premium for a $10,000 brick veneer home in Amarillo, the basic rate is the same, 25 cents, the key rate figure used is 7 cents for a total of 32 cents. The annual premium is 49 per cent less, or 16 cents.

For $10,000 in insurance the normal annual premium is $16, the same as Canyon's normal premium less the Fire Record Credit of 20 per cent. Amarillo has a Fire Record Credit this year of 5 per cent, leaving an actual premium of $15.20—80 cents less than Canyon, yet the city of Amarillo spends empty jillion more dollars each year on the fire department.

It's obvious that Canyon cannot afford the ultimate in fire departments, and it cannot afford to do a number of the other things which affect the key rate—things like a paid fire department, half a dozen new fire trucks, an aerial ladder truck and a city-wide alarm system.

But Canyon can afford to practice fire prevention. Each of us can keep an eye out for fire hazards around our homes and where we work. We've heard the items so many times that we don't pay attention to them.

Keep oily rags in tightly closed metal containers, do not allow trash to pile up, don't smoke in bed, don't overload electric circuits, keep matches away from children, don't use volatile cleaning fluids inside the house—we all know the items.

Good fire prevention pays off at a high rate, and it keeps paying off each year. Remember that each five per cent on the Good Fire Record saves insurance costs at the rate of five per cent of the premium per year.

Too often it's the budding genius who fails to bear fruit.

IMPERIAL CHEVROLET

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Holidays are over, but Austin is entering another period equally festive, active and exhausting for participants.

Tuesday (the 13th) the 56th Legislature convened, bringing hundreds of new residents to the Capital City for five or six months or more. Their arrival steps up demand in many areas — for rent houses, hotel rooms, catering services, typewriters and stenographers.

A week from now comes the Inauguration of Gov. Price Daniel with a parade, swearing-in ceremony, Capitol reception and a multitude of balls and special parties. Thereafter, if the usual pattern continues, there'll be more social activities for and by the visitors. Lawmakers' wives, separated from home-town friends and, often, from their husbands by long hours of debate and committee hearings, form their own luncheon clubs.

Many organizations send delegations to Austin during the session. These groups — over breakfasts, luncheons, dinners, barbecues or maybe just coffee — meet with their legislators to tell them their special woes and hopes.

Even school children come by the busload to supplement their civics studies by observation.

Last session, a period of uncomfortable concern over ethics and lobbying, saw a dropping off in the lavishness of party-giving for legislators. This round may be even more grim and business-like. Lawmakers will face staggering problems in trying to pull the state out of debt and find money for new needs. No group would want to appear too flush lest it be seen as a likely tax target.

Whatever the social leanings of the lawmakers — for champagne in crystal goblets or coffee in paper cups — their activities give Austin its liveliest, newest months. One frequent gallery-sitter, with no particular legislative interest, said he came regularly because a session provided spectators absolutely free "the excitement of a football game, the fervor of a revival meeting and more education than a year in the University."

Some events and issues on which interest is likely to focus immediately:

MONEY gets top billing on almost everybody's list of legislative problems.

Governor Daniel's recommended budget calls for spending $2,311,434,306 during 1960-61. An extra $185,000,000 in new tax revenue would have to be raised to cover it and wipe out the current deficit.

Overall, the governor's budget is a 10 per cent increase over present spending. Almost all the increase, he pointed out, would go to meet a growing population's need for basic state services — education, highways, welfare and hospital and correctional institutions. Governor Daniel said he had found "no public sentiment" for reducing these services.

Not included in this budget are several items for which there is certain to be demand, such as teacher pay raises and medical aid for persons on the welfare rolls.

EDUCATION, on all levels, will be a broth that many will try to stir.

For public schools, the Hale-Aikin Committee of 24 is presenting a lengthy report on ideas for improving programs. Included are more pay for teachers, longer school terms, special instruction for the gifted, driver education, etc. Total cost of the additions would be $80,000,000 a year for the state, about $32,000,000 a year for local districts.

Both the Commission on Higher Education and Governor Daniel have recommended increased appropriations for state-supported colleges and universities. Both also recommended Arlington State College be made a senior college.

Not happy with these are (1) University of Texas officials who regard the UT appropriation share as too meager and (2) residents of three other towns, who also had wanted their junior colleges expanded.

HIGHWAY bills will abound. Seen as likely are proposals to (1) allow the Highway Commission to set higher speed limits on new divided highways, (2) restrict billboard advertising on new interstate routes, (3) prohibit location of utility lines on highway right of way outside of cities and (4) prohibit car owners' registering their cars in counties other than where they live in order to escape auto property tax.

SAFETY legislation, both to punish the guilty and train the innocent, has widespread support.

Recommended measures would (1) allow chemical tests for drunkenness, (2) increase the State Highway Patrol, (3) strengthen traffic courts, (4) provide state aid for driver education in public schools and (5) overhaul the drivers license law.

WATER law will again be in the news when the State Water Board presents its report to the Legislature with the recommendation that $5,000,000 be spent on water planning in the next five years.

Texas lost hundreds of millions in this decade through drought and uncontrolled floods, the Board noted. It suggested planning directed toward capturing for use some 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 acre feet of the 42,000,000 acre feet estimated to run annually into the Gulf from Texas.

SMALL LOAN COMPANIES likely will be the center of some heated legislative debate as they have been in the past.

Texas Legislative Council has suggested a law giving the State Banking Commission authority to police the small loan industry and a constitutional amendment to allow the Legislature to fix interest rates.

INSURANCE will, as usual, be the subject of a few bills. Probably the most controversial will be a measure to provide for "flexible auto insurance rates," as opposed

Florence Coffee To Give Assembly

Florence Marie Coffee, a Rotary Foundation Fellow who spent the last year at the University of Sydney in Australia, will speak Thursday at the 10 a. m. assembly at West Texas State College.

The final assembly of the fall semester will be held in the Administration Building auditorium, and the public is invited.

Miss Coffee, a former WT student, attended the University of Texas, where she earned her B.A. degree. She held a fellowship at Duke University, where she earned the M.A. degree in political science.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Coffee of Canyon, Miss Coffee taught at Tulia High School before going to Australia last January.

to the present state-set rules. Legislative Council declined to endorse this, but suggested the Board of Insurance work on a plan to reward careful drivers.

Several proposals are likely to emerge in an effort to resolve present uncertainty as to whether the Board of Insurance should operate full-time or part-time.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Farmers who intend to plant grass on their farms this year should start thinking about the mixtures of grasses to plant and when to plant.

The supervisors of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District recommend that the grass be planted between Jan. 15 and March 15. The grasses planted at this time have a better chance to get needed moisture and develop a better stand.

The District recommends that a mixture with approximately 80% Blue grama and 20% Buffalo be used, except for a few special cases. This mixture will give a good pasture condition after the stand is obtained.

Farmers and ranchers who want to use the district drills should contact Edd Dwyer at the Canyon High School. Edd is the custodian of the district drills and will be glad to tell you when you can obtain the drills.

Overseeding of native pastures should be done at the same time that you plant the grasses on the Conservation Reserve land.

Farmers and ranchers interested in deferred grazing should contact the local ASC office before Feb. 1, 1959.

For information on dates and rates for seeding grasses, you can contact the SCS, ASC or County Agent.

Mrs. Gibson Hosts Edgetown HD Club

A demonstration on bedroom accessories was given by Mrs. Mona K. Hildreth, county home demonstration agent, as the Edgetown Home Demonstration Club met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Francis Gibson.

Present were Mrs. Pat Stevens, Mrs. Billy Sogree, Mrs. Jo Ann Hicks, Mrs. Melba Fisher, Mrs. Mary Donnell, Mrs. Reabeth Abbott and Mrs. Gibson, members, and Mrs. Gerald Warwick and Mrs. Kathrine Thompson, guests.

Mrs. C. H. Stratton has returned from a two weeks visit with her son, Charle A. Stratton, of Bartlesville, Okla.

Mrs. Harrell Gives Program on Alaska

Films on Alaska were shown at the Social Pioneers' meeting in the home of Mrs. N. A. Croson. Shown and narrated by Mrs. Newton Harrell, the films depicted life on Umanac Island, one of the Aleutian chain, where the Harrells have sheep raising interests.

Homes and shelters are the barracks constructed and used by the Army during World War II. An extra price is paid for the wool of sheep raised there, because the fleece is so clean and of such high quality.

Next meeting will be March 27 in the home of Mrs. W. T. Davis.

Map Project Shown In 'Outlook' Article

An article outlining a map project in geography used in Canyon Junior High School classes by a West Texas State College professor and a former student has appeared in the January issue of Texas Outlook.

Dan Selakovich, assistant professor of social studies, and Joe Herron, now a teacher in Amarillo, are the authors of the article. They worked together on the project when Herron was a practice teacher at Canyon Junior High.

The article shows ways in which student interest in the nation's natural resources and in map drawing may be stimulated.

MRS. EMMITT LAVELLE PHIFER

Miller-Phifer Vows Solemnized In Ford Memorial Chapel, Lubbock

Ford Memorial Chapel of the Lubbock First Baptist Church was the scene of the double ring ceremony uniting Mary Edna Miller and Emmitt Lavelle Phifer, both of Lubbock. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller of Happy and Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt E. Phifer of McAdoo.

The Rev. I. D. Walker officiated at the service. Mary Beth Wells and Dean Diggs attended the couple as maid of honor and best man. Harold Ayers and Johnny Miller, brother of the bride, ushered.

Organ music was furnished by Mrs. C. E. Reynolds, with Lloyd Thompson of Seagraves as soloist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Art Miller of Happy, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of ice pink velvet chiffon with a rounded neckline and three quarter length sleeves. The front featured scallops accented with covered buttons from the neckline to the hemline. The flared front of the skirt flowed to gathered fullness in back and she wore a pink circular veil attached to a crown of pink braided nylon entwined with seedpearls. Her bouquet was an arrangement of Garnette red roses which she carried on a white Bible.

Her attendant wore a Garnette red velvet chiffon dress styled similar to the bride's but featured a flared skirt. Her headpiece and the muffs she carried were of red velvet and the muffs were arranged with pink roses.

A reception was held in the chapel following the ceremony. Members of the house party include Mrs. B. C. Hardin of Hale Center, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. J. E. Bass of Boscobel, Wis., sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Otis Harman of Tulsa, Mrs. George Rahlfs and Mrs. O. H. Rahlfs, both of Happy, all three aunts of the bride; Mrs. Lonzo Shannon, Sadie Bownds and Dot Williams, all of Lubbock.

For the wedding trip to California for the Tournament of Roses Parade and the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena, Mrs. Phifer wore a sapphire blue and black tweed suit with black accessories and a corsage taken from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Happy High School and Draughton's Business College in Abilene. She is employed as secretary of Southwestern Public Service Co. Her husband is a graduate of McAdoo High in Plainview and Draughton's Business College in Lubbock. He is employed at General Steel Warehouse in Lubbock.

Our New Year's Resolution To You

Happy New Year to everyone in Canyon from all of us at the Telephone Company.

Since this is the season for resolutions, I thought you might want to know a little bit more about a resolution that we try to follow 365 days a year in providing telephone service to you and your neighbors.

Here it is —

We Define Our Objectives

"Our objective is to furnish the best possible telephone service at reasonable cost—a cost consistent with financial safety and fair treatment of employees.

"Service ranks above everything else in this policy. And the only good service is one that is continually improving. To furnish this service we need the best people, the best equipment, the best methods, and the best management we can develop.

"Reasonable cost has been defined as one that produces an ever-growing public demand. Our equipment, training, and methods would net us nothing if the cost of service became so high that people would not buy it.

"Financial safety should not be endangered by setting the price of service too low. In the long run, a price that provides profit enough to undertake new research and results in better, cheaper service to the public.

"Fair Treatment of employees means good pay, good working conditions, reasonable job security, and opportunity for advancement based on merit. It is people — employees — who are the most important element in the success of any business.

We Accept These Responsibilities

"TO THE EMPLOYEES . . . provide machines, methods, equipment, direction, leadership, job training, incentives to progress, selection for promotion.

"TO THE PUBLIC . . . more and better service at a reasonable cost. Contributions to public welfare and national defense.

"TO THE OWNERS . . . run business in a sound, profitable manner.

Looking Ahead

"Progress has long been the keynote of the telephone business. And, if business forecasters are anywhere near correct, the next 20 years will bring more growth and development than we have ever seen before.

"The future can be faced confidently with a policy of equal consideration for owners, employees, and the public." That's probably the longest resolution you've ever heard about, but it takes a lot of effort to give you the best in telephone service.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.
